Gulf Park Awards the Palm to

Miss Gulf Park

Pat McCroskey

Receiving one of the most treasured honors at Gulf Park, was Pat McCroskey, who was elected Miss Gulf Park on January 11.

Miss Gulf Park must excel in academic and social affairs; she must be poised showing a well rounded personality. The students at Gulf Park elected Pat because she fulfills all of these qualifications.

Pat, a senior, resides in Alberquerque, New Mexico. She has attended Gulf Park for four years and plans upon graduating to enter the University of New Mexico. While attending the University, Pat will major in art which has been her hobby for a number of years. Other ways in which Pat spends her leisure time are dancing, playing her guitar, and water-skiing.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Christmas spirit reigned high in the High School as the holidays approached with much festivity. Door decorations, Christmas music, and Christmas trees in the smokers adorned Lloyd Hall. Friday, December 15, floor parties were held to exchange gifts and to present the house mothers with their presents. After that all the High School met in second floor smoker for a short program followed by carol singing. Stephanie Pitts read The Other Wise Man.

Although the holidays ended only too soon, it was evident by the enthusiasm and excitment on January 3 that everyone had had a wonderful time. The New Year is here, and with it prospects of graduation seem much closer. The Sophomores are already ordering their graduation invitations.

Something new has been added to Lloyd Hall. The High School gift to the college for 1962 has been installed and put into operation — a new inter-communication system. Some students have already discovered that it is much stronger than the old system. Watch what you say, girls!

The new year arrived in full force, bringing with it many new faces to the G. P. C. campus. Eight new girls arrived to join the High School Skippers for the second semester. Alabama was well represented with Judy Ashburn from Huntsville, Lucinda White from Troy, Lulu Smith from Athens, and Pamela Stuart from Bessemer. Arriving from Texas were Kay Cain of Dallas, Martha Yadon of Ft. Worth, and Merigale Manziel of Tyler. Merigale attended G. P. C. the second semester of 1961. Emily Garafalo arrived from Faulkner, Miss. Welcome to the High School!

Several of the Beta Club members, sponsored by Mrs. Rape, attended the Beta Club convention in Jackson, Miss. on the ninth and tenth of February. The state convention was held at the Hiedelberg Hotel. The purpose of the convention was to elect state officers, discuss current matters, and of course, have an enjoyable, memorable week-end. Included in the convention agenda were a talent show, campaign speeches and elections, conferences, a banquet, and the annual Beta Ball.

In addition to these activities the girls enjoyed sightseeing and shopping in Jackson. The trip was thoroughly enjoyed by the girl who truly deserved this reward for their hard work in attaining the honor of membership in the Beta Club.

NEW FACULTY JOIN STAFF

Not only has the new semester brought forth the promise of studying harder, but it has also brought two new faculty members to the campus of Gulf Park.

Mr. Joe Steinwinder, who is teaching History of England, received his BA degree from Mississippi College where he majored in history with Dr. James, then a professor, now President of Gulf Park College. He attended Livingston College and University of Chicago. Mr. Steinwinder says that his pet peeve is students who do not think. He spends his leisure time hunting and fishing. He owns and operates the Cardinal Flower Shop in Gulfport.

The other new faculty member is Mrs. Jean Kelly. She is teaching sociology, government, and psychology to the high school and the college students at Gulf Park. Mrs. Kelly calls Ocean Springs her home, but has lived in Frankfurt am Main. Germany, for the past eight years. While in Frankfurt, Mrs. Kelly was a housewife who spent her leisure time learning the German language. She attended Maryland College for Women, Manhattanville College, the University of Cincinnati, Washington University, St. Louis University, University of Chicago, and New York University. She is presently studying at Mississippi Southern. Mrs. Kelly has no pet peeve; she just likes young people very much. Reading and music are her favorite pastimes, and she enjoys playing tennis and the piano.

Mr. Steinwinder and Mrs. Kelly are welcomed to Gulf Park.

MARDI GRAS BALL HIGHLIGHTS FEBRUARY

Highlighting the carnival season was the Mardi Gras Ball which was presented in the Gulf Park Auditorium on February 17. It was a formal ball with dates from Pensacola and Tulane. If one had a date in mind, now was the time to invite him, because no one wanted to miss out on this night. The theme of the dance was a carnival theme. "Maskers" made the guests laugh and grab at the trinkets they threw. The orchestra, from New Orleans, provided music for dancing after the crowning of the queen.

There were two courts, the Bit and Spur Court and the Atheson Court. The queen of the Bit and Spur was Teve Thorne and her court was Peggy O'Neal, Sue Thomas, Ginny Klinke, Nancy Locke, Kathy Mathes, and Jan Schloth. The queen of the Atheson Court was Etta Dykes and her court was Grier Haddock, Linda Larkin, Ruth Anne Bueter, Pam Morlock, Luckett McDonald, Judy Rivard, and Pat McCroskey. This was one of the most gala events presented at Gulf Park. It was most certainly an evening to be remembered.

IS THIS THE WARM, SUNNY SOUTH?

"Come South! Stay warm all winter!" Travel posters and brochures make it all sound so attractive. Here is Gulf Park College down in the wonderful sunny South, perfect location for spending the winter months. The sun is always shining over the campus, the Gulf rolling in and the fountain flowing smoothly.

But—what happened? Jack Frost moved down South bringing with him ice and freezing wind. Girls caught unaware were shivering in cotton dresses and not-so-heavy coats. Ice was all around and a fast freezing rain fell constantly. The fountain was in ripples of ice and looked as though it had been transformed from everyday realism to fairyland.

Since this unusual weather has occurred only once during this century, it is safe to say that Jack Frost's visits will be few and far between.

So come South and spend your winters.

HARDY HALL REMAINS HEARTY THROUGH THE YEARS

Here I stand facing the Gulf, the trees, and the skies, my arms outstretched to students from all over the nation. Yes, I'm Hardy Hall, dedicated in the memory of Colonel J. C. Hardy, who devoted five of the best years of his life to the establishment of Gulf Park College. I'm the oldest building on the Gulf Park campus.

Inside my halls I house the many girls who have come to me for an education. Within my walls they find the warmth of home, the happiness of a big family, and the guidance of counselors—their adopted mothers. Along with living quarters my vast area encompasses an auditorium, a dining room, the ever-popular mail room, and the reception room and office—the nucleus of my complex structure. I have no preference as to which girls I shelter, but because of seniority and by selection, I generally shelter the girls who are in college. However, I occasionally board high school girls who have over-populated my sister hall, Lloyd.

My main purpose is to provide protection for the girls from the elements of nature. But I also provide recreational facilities which help relax my girls after a hard day at "education." I have smokers, which as their name indicates are the only places in me where my girls may smoke. Also my girls may play cards, watch television, or listen to records here; however, there is no dancing because the Y-Hut offers a much more accomodating dance floor.

The seasons come and go, and with them old faces leave my walls and new ones enter. In my existence I have seen many girls, many school activities, and very much happiness. The enormous Friendship Oak which stands at my left side, symbolizes strong friendships, love, and great respect for our fellow man, which our girls seem to cultivate while here. Yes, I have stood here for many years—true to Gulf Park College and the girls that honor my hallowed walls.

CLAYTON RAND SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

Students of Gulf Park College were privileged to hear a lecture by the noted author, Clayton Rand, early in January. Mr. Rand has written many books, but his newest is Sons of the South. This book is a collection of the lives of the South's most distinguished sons. It was dedicated to the "Daughters of the South, the mothers of its sons." Mr. Rand gave a brief resume of his book, describing its contents and showing pictures in the book drawn by Gulf Park's own art instructor, Miss Dalton Shourds. Mr. Rand provided an entertaining as well as informative talk about the distinguished breed of men of the South in our nation's history.

Aquettes Get In The Swim

Neither rain, sleet, nor snow can keep the Aquette group from functioning. With Miss Morrison, sponsor, are a few other guiding lights of this aquatic organization: Peggy O'Neal, President; Kay Field, Vice President; and Lee Ortmeyer, Secretary-Treasurer. The members of the club are as follows: Jackie DeMoss, Kay Hebenstreit, Jerry Holt, Sally Huntoon, Judy Klick, Maria Mombelia, Nancy Pace, Penny Porter, Jane Saunders, Melinda Stivers, Vicki Stewart-Moore, and Mallory White. The club is organizing a show to be presented before local residents in the near future. This show will include the Aquette members and a chorus of girls who will swim with the club members. The show will consist of numbers from previous shows as a medley. Later in the season the club will plan a production for the commencement exercises.

LUNCHEON HONORS DAY STUDENTS and PARENTS

President and Mrs. H. Preston James of Gulf Park College entertained day students and their parents Monday at a luncheon in the college dining room.

Receiving were Miss Ann Hartwell, president of the day students, President and Mrs. James, Dean Irene Simmons, and Dean and Mrs. William Sadler. Dean Sadler is sponsor for the day student's organization. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Rabourn and Dr. and Mrs. Rupert H. Cooke.

Preceeding the luncheon, a social period was held in the reception room of Hardy Hall.

Following the luncheon, Miss Simmons extended a welcome to the campus to the parents and presented Dr. James who told of some plans of the college which will greatly benefit the day students in their campus life.

Before the luncheon terminated, Dean Simmons expressed her delight over the opportunity to become acquainted with the parents of the day students. She spoke enthusiastically about the role that Coast students play in the life at Gulf Park. Then she invited the parents to visit her privately when they have the opportunity and to tour the campus on which their daughters spend so much time.

Dr. James also spoke. He expressed interest in the Coast Club. Then he explained the plans for a new day-student lounge and the facilities to be afforded there. In conclusion, he repeated Dean Simmons' gracious invitation for the parents to return to visit Gulf Park.

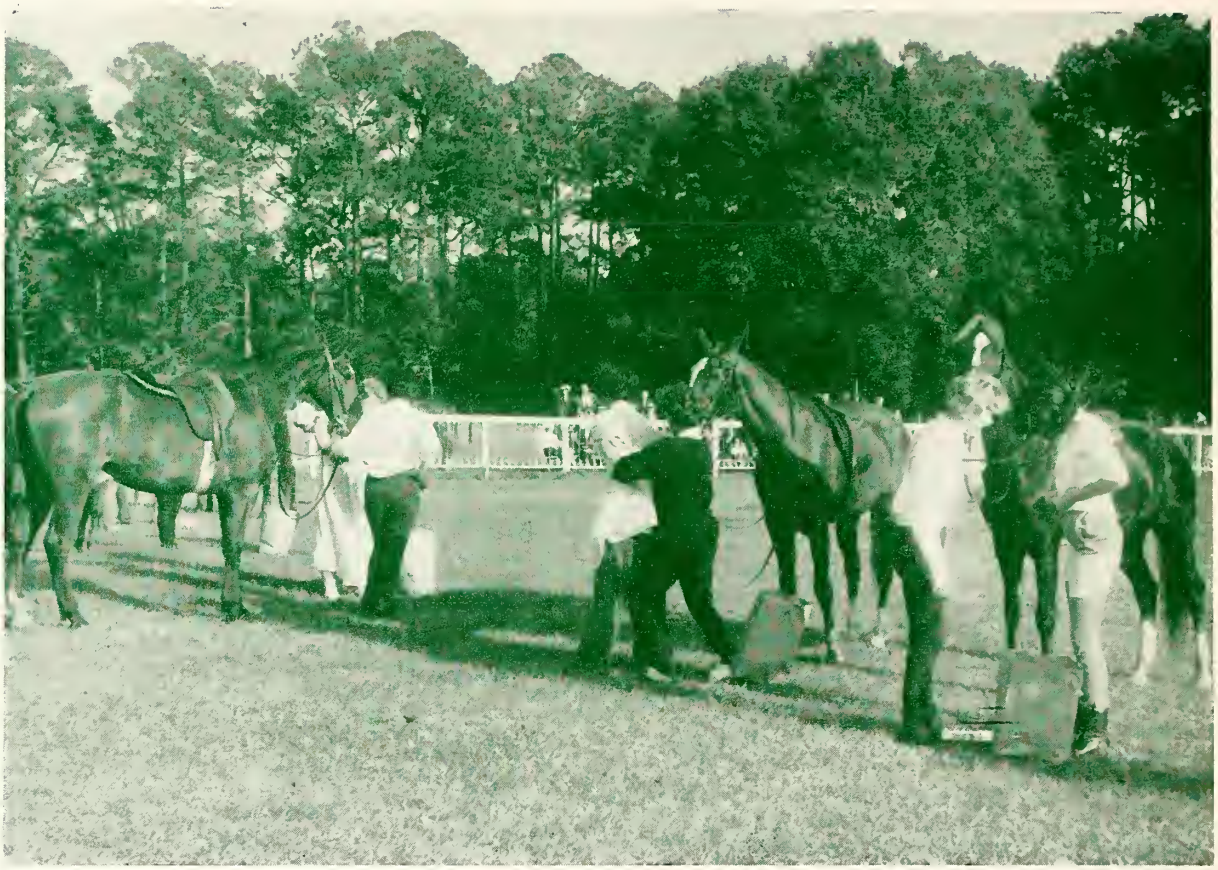
MISS AMERICA VISITS GULFPORT

Maria Beale Fletcher from Asheville, North Carolina, Miss America of 1962, is a delightful example of the All-American Girl. She can sing, dance and speak like a professional. While visiting here, she captured the hearts of the people on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Because Maria's parents were professional dancers, she learned to dance at an early age. By the time she was two, Maria was making public appearances. Then, as her dancing talent increased, she won many trophies. Her dancing talent plus her vocal ability helped her to capture the title of Miss America.

During the Miss America Pageant, Maria Fletcher as Miss North Carolina, was placed as one of the ten top finalists after she won the bathing-suit competition. As the pageant continued, Maria remained in the spotlight. She was applauded greatly when she answered the second question asked her during the final part of the judging. Then amid tears of joy and thunderous applause, Maria Beale Fletcher was crowned Miss America of 1962.

Gulf Park girls who attended the reception held in honor of Miss America at the Markham Hotel, can assure you that she is the true All-American Girl. She is both sweet and wholesome. To know her modesty one has only to read this expression of her feelings concerning her honor of being Miss America — "I am a queen not by birth or heredity, but because the people of America are an idealistic people. People honor me as they do the flag, not for its beauty, not the texture of the cloth, nor the way it ripples in the breeze, but because it represents the land we love and is symbolic of our land."



RIDING STUDENTS PRESENT FALL GYMKHANA

Gymkhana, the annual horse show, was held by Gulf Park riding students on December 3. The gala event was under the direction of riding instructor, Miss Carolyn Smith, who also acted as announcer.

Mr. William Hodges was the formal ringmaster, and judges were Miss Jane Morrison and Mr. William Rabourn. The Gymkhana Committee was composed of Teve Thorne, Sue Sherrin, Jan Schloth, and Rosserlyn Ramsay, all certificate riders. Help was also provided by the other officers of the Bit and Spur Club: Cheryl Wood, Barb Simonsen, and Nancy Kennedy.

Many experienced riders went through many varied procedures which proved to be quite humorous, but required a considerable amount of skill. The riders performed not only for a large group of students, but for spectators from the Coast.

The results were:

Class 1 — Bareback Poker Chip Class: Nancy Locke, first; Becky Smith, second; and Barb Simonsen, third.

Class 2 — Boot Race: Nancy Seton, first; Barb Simonsen, second; Sharon Sneed, third. Class 3 — Musical Pad: Ginny Klinke, first; Barb Simonsen, second; Sharon Sneed, third. Class 4 — Egg Race: Hope McCroskey, first; Sue Seigel, second; Penny Porter, third. Class 5 — Grab Bag: Linda Waggoner, first; Ginny Klinke, second; Viki Stewart-Moore, third. Class 6 — Corn Cob Race: Martha Ford, first; Georgia Tuttle, second; Teve Thorne, third. Class 7 — Pair Class: Pat Carpenter and Nancy Seton, first. Class 8 — Bareback and Saddle Race: Susie Daily, first; Nancy Locke, second; Nancy Pace, third. Class 9 — Walk-Trot-Canter Relay Race: Teve Thorne, Viki Stewart-Moore, Mary Ella Finley, first; Nancy Pace, Martha Ford, Billie Jean Chandler, second. Class 10 — Donut Eating Contests Jan Ratton, first; Martha Newberry, second; Peggy Brown, third. Class 11 — Costume Class: Cheryl Wood, first; Mavis Strickland, second; Rosserlyn Ramsey, third. Class 12 — Ballroom Contest: Teve Thorne, first; Lee Ortmeyer, second; Sue Sherrin, third.

Even with a few spills and unlucky results, everyone enjoyed the event. The next show will take place in the spring.

ATHLETIC BOARD MAKES PLANS

The Athletic Board met in December and set aside the week-end of January 13 and 14 to visit Huckleberry Hill. A new plan was placed on the agenda for the second quarter. Instead of the past team sport of speedball, there would be a small series of individual sports such as tennis and badmitton. A tournament in each sport would follow at the end of the quarter. If one is interested in this proposal, she should feel free to give an opinion to her athletic directors.

TURNERS PRESENT GIFT

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Cal Turner, 215 West Cherry Street, Scottsville, Kentucky, presented the College with a gift of $750.00 to be used for one or more campus needs. The Turners have had two daughters at Gulf Park College, Laura Jo, who graduated in 1957, and Betty, who was a member of the class of 1962. Illness forced Betty's withdrawal before the end of her school year.

The sincere thanks of the staff and student body go to Mr. and Mrs. Turner for this very fine gift.

WROA Inaugurates Series

Station WROA, Gulfport, 1390 on the radio dial, inaugurated on December 9, 1961 a bi-weekly radio series, entitled VIGNETTES, arranged and presented by Cornelia Hammond, a junior from Atlanta.

The series, a fifteen minute broadcast from 4:15 to 4:30 on Saturday afternoon, consisted primarily of prose and poetry excerpts linked by travelogue and personal reminiscence. The first four programs on VIGNETTES were as follows:

December 9: "Georgia Memories"

December 23: "The Well of the Star," a Christmas story

January 6: "At Home to the Future"

January 20: "The Quality of Mercy"

CHRISTMAS BANQUET

Gulf Park held its annual Christmas Banquet on December 14. The evening was started by the carolers, who led the faculty, guests, and students into the festively decorated Dining Hall. Upon each table, as a centerpiece, was a small tree decorated with gold beads. At the rear of the hall was a very large tree brilliantly decorated. The buffet was adorned with pink flowers, candles, and angels.

The carolers sang Christmas songs throughout the banquet. The climax of the banquet was the presentation of gifts to the waiters, waitresses, kitchen help, and maintenance men. President James presented the gifts.

IRELAND COMES TO GULF PARK

The Irish have a holiday on the seventeenth of March, called St. Patrick's Day, and all the Irish Gulf Park girsl will participate in "the wearing of the green." It is a day when everyone of Irish heritage remembers with pride any connection with that grand little "Emerald Isle." They will break out the green, any shade or form, put it on and show it off—all that is needed is just one little strip of green ribbon. St. Patrick's Day comes around only once a year, but all who are Irish know that the year 'round they always have "the luck of the Irish!"

Minnie Minchell

Hi!

Now that exams are over for a while, I guess everyone has rested and is settling down, studying hard to improve or maintain her semester average. Congratulations to everyone on Deans' List and to all of those on Honorable Mention.

Here, once again, are a few of the things being talked about on campus!!! Carolyn C., Don't you know that curiosity killed the cat? ..... Suzanne A., is it true that anytime is Coke time for you? ..... Nancy A., Do you often receive those "collect" calls? ..... Srs., Isn't it about time for you to learn a few songs for serenade? ..... Welcome to all new students — we hope that you're beginning to feel right at home at GPC.

Carolyn W., Which Senior do you try to imitate? Why? ..... Kay F., We know what your secret is! ..... Judy K., Is your white shirt an original? ..... Pam M., Why all the green stationery these days?

Paige E., Didn't we see you in the hall with a mop and pail a few weeks ago? ..... Lyn C., Better watch it when you're getting into a car! ..... Nancy S., Are you really a secretary in some college? ..... Becky S., What strange things have happened to you lately? ..... Lana Gail, Do you really have a plush rug somewhere in your suite?

Suzy P., What's been taken away from you? ..... G. Stokes, Pretty tiny for being a big 18, aren't you? ..... Ruth A. B., What's the reason for the Big Campaign? ..... Linda J., What's the pin for, anyway?

Nancy L., How many Seniors do you now know? ..... Jo S., Do you really like blackberry jelly that much?

Bonnie D., Don't you think you should say "Miss" before her name?

Etta, Do you now keep your teddy bear on your bed or in it? ..... Henrianne, How did you get your nickname of "Honesty"? ..... Which Jr. remembers Jan. 29 all too well? ..... Sherry C., What's that about you getting "pinned" at Christmas?

Harriet W., Are you still president of that club you had formed before Christmas? ..... Cammie B., You aren't laughing at Seniors anymore, are you? ..... Bonnie A., Have you read "The Tire" lately? ..... Judy C., What's that constant noise that's always around you? .... Susan B., You'd be surprised how much we really know ..... Grier, Do you often spend hours scotch-taping "puzzles" together? ..... What suite on center hall should have a private phone installed? ..... Blanche, What are the limitations? ..... Jean B., You don't scare easily, do you? ..... Rilla, Better watch that bubble gum!!! Kathy T., You seem to really enjoy yourself at the Y-Hut sometimes ..... Have you ever noticed which group is always in a certain restaurant every week?

Well, it's time to be bidding you all "Adieu" until next month, but, undoubtedly, without your knowing it, Minnie will be seeing you before then.

Gulf Park College Clee Club Presents 'The Christmas Story'

To highlight the Christmas season the Gulf Park College Glee Club presented its annual concert of Christmas music in the Auditorium on December 14. The members of the Glee Club were dressed in white blazers over white blouses and white wool skirts. That much hard work was put into this program was very evident in the performance.

The first part of the program told the story of Christ's birth in sacred music. A Magnificat composed by Mrs. Estelle Archer with Lee Ortmeyer as soloist portrayed The Annunciation. The Proclamation was presented in a Christmas Concerto, "Lo, I bring Tidings." Miss Jane Teamster, violinist, Lt. Allan Lessem, flutist, and Mr. William Huckabay, pianist, performed the instrumental parts for this difficult composition. This portion of the program ended with "The Morning Star," "Come, Hasten, Ye Shepherds and Wise Men" and three Slovak Christmas carols — "Alleluia, Christ Is Born," "Gladly Sing This Wondrous Thing," and "Peace on Earth" which represented the majesty of The Fulfillment.

As the lights on the two Christmas trees came on, the Glee Club changed the mood and presented four secular Christmas songs in a lighter vein: "Ring Those Christmas Bells," "The Little Drummer Boy," "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," and "White Christmas."

Surely everyone who heard the Glee Club's performance will agree that there's no way to say "Merry Christmas" better than to "say it with music."

EUROPEAN HOLIDAY LEAVES CHERISHED MEMORIES

The Appian Way, a bullfight, the changing of the guards, the Taj Mahal, and the Champs-Elysees are just a few of the fascinating sights that Betsy Boyd, Elaine Butchikas, May Frances I'Anson, Lois Ann Moon, Jan Ratton, and Harriet Widmer saw on their trips to Europe last summer.

Elaine spent two months in Greece, England, France, Italy, Spain and Switzerland. She stayed most of the time in Greece with her relatives who live there. She describes Athens as being much like New York City, a center of culture with opera, ballet, and drama. Athens exemplifies the strong contrast of modern against antique as do many European cities. The difference in living conditions of the people, their poverty as compared to our prosperity, made an imprint on her mind. She says, "It makes you realize that we have so much to be thankful for."

Betsy is an experienced traveler because, besides living in Rome for two years, she has spent the last two summers seeing most of Europe and Asia. She has visited Japan, China, Thailand, India, Israel, Egypt, and Turkey. She has also been to most of the same countries that the other girls have visited. Her favorite spot was Japan as she was there during cherry blossom season. Seeing the Taj Mahal was the highlight of her stay in India. The tour of the Holy Land was of great significance to Betsy and her family. Camels took them to tour the Great Pyramid near Cairo and from their hotel room they could see the Nile River. The temples, housing huge Buddhas, some emerald or gold, were visited by the Boyds; and the City Hall in Stockholm, containing all the Nobel Prize literature and art was seen. In Paris, they visited Napoleon's tomb and the Louvre.

May went to Switzerland, to the University of Lausanne to study French last summer. In addition to seeing Switzerland, she toured France, Germany, Belgium, England and Holland for six weeks. She was able to stay with families in each of the countries. May was most impressed with the people and their helpfulness and friendliness. Lake Geneva in southwestern Switzerland captured her interest as did the Gothic Cathedral of Lausanne. She says that the food everywhere is wonderful especially the cafe au lait and the cactines.

Lois Ann was not really a visitor to Europe as she lived in Germany for four years. She was able to see the World's Fair in Belgium in 1959, and the famous Passion Play in Oberammergau, Bavaria. She loved Paris and was overwhelmed by the enormity of the Eiffel Tower. In Switzerland she and her family went skiing and stayed in the quaint little Girl Scout chalet. The bullfights were the high spot of their stay in Barcelona, Spain. They were in Rome on a religious holiday so were able to see some of the impressive ceremonies at the Vatican.

Jan Ratton toured Italy with her high school seminar. She was gone for three weeks seeing Rome,

OPEN HOUSE REVEALS STUDENT LIFE

Dusting, sweeping, waxing, all these things had to be done in preparation for open house. Gulf Park College entertained the citizens of Gulfport, Long Beach, and Pass Christian Sunday, January 28, 1962. The open house provided the citizens of the Gulf Coast with the opportunity to see Gulf Park in action. The officers of the various organizations were chosen as hostesses for this important event in the school year. The visitors and student hostesses enjoyed a delightful meal in the dining room after which the guests were taken on a tour of the campus.

The visitors who came to the dormitories could better understand students' home life. Then the tour continued to the Ad. Building, where the classrooms were viewed. From the Ad. Building the guests toured the Library, the Y-Hut, Lloyd Hall and last, but not least, the Art Studio. In the Art Studio, for the benefit of the visitors, the new paintings donated and painted by Mr. Nichols were on display. Gulf Park College certainly enjoyed the visitors and it is hoped that the visitors enjoyed Gulf Park.

VALENTINES HAVE VARIETY OF ORIGIN

Ever wonder how the custom of exchanging valentines on St. Valentine's Day originated? It began way, way back in history when Father Valentine, a priest of Rome, was imprisoned for trying to help the Christians, who at that time were being persecuted. He himself had become a convert to Christianity, and although he restored the sight of his jailer's blind daughter, he was martyred by being clubbed to death on February 14, 269 A. D.

People wanted to commemorate his death, and did so by exchanging small tokens of love or friendship, as February 14, according to ancient tradition, was the day the birds chose their mates for the year. It was an old custom in England to draw lots for lovers on this day. The person being drawn was the drawer's "Valentine," and was given a present, sometimes expensive, but oftener a pair of gloves, which gradually evolved to the Valentine card we know so well today.

FASHION SHOW HERALDS SPRING

In the midst of the coldest spell that the South has experienced in a century, spring came to Gulf Park. The annual Spring Fashion Revue featuring spring and summer designs was presented January 11 in the Auditorium. Carolyn Campbell and Linda Scheffler broke the tension as they stepped out on the carpet-covered runway to announce the revue. As the curtains opened, beautiful background scenery representing Jamaica was revealed.

On both sides of the stage were palm trees made of crepe paper and pink and green plumes. The stage represented a wharf scene, and a small open market with baskets and flowers for sale. Louise McKinnon, Linda Abbey, Sherry Cohn, Mary Lou Brown, and Aline Vivien opened each scene with a dance typical of Jamaica. The background music for the models was played by an Ensemble from the New Orleans Philharmonic.

Between the third and fourth scenes, the calypso girls, directed by Mrs. Estelle Archer, entertained the audience while changes were being made on stage. The Calypso Girls were Sarah Gilbert, Ann Moon, Shelby Stone, Lee Ortmeyer, Sandy Sugarman, Cornelia Hammond, Jo Strauss, Letitia Talbot, and Nell Stuart. One of the highlights of the evening was Letitia Talbot, disguised as a Jamaican native, walking out on the runway and throwing an apple into President James' lap.

The commentators were Carolyn Campbell, May Frances I'Anson, Sherri Johnson, and Linda Scheffler. Also helping to make the show a success were Mr. William T. Sadler, usher; Miss Ruth Schreiber, makeup; Miss Jane Morrison, lights; Miss Dalton Shourds, set; and Miss Helen Picking, stage director. The Secretarial Science Club and the models contributed a great deal of work and talent both in front of and behind the scenes.

Climaxing the evening was the announcement of the most cherished title given to a college girl — Miss Gulf Park. Pat McCrosky was selected by the student body as the most outstanding and most versatile young woman on campus.

FIRST STUDENT RECITAL SHOWS GULF PARK TALENT

Gulf Park College Department of Music presented its first Student Recital in the Auditorium on December 6.

The recital began with the "Allemande," "Sarabande," and "Gigue" movements of Bach's French Suite No. 1 played by Rilla Carter. This was followed by Fantasia in D Minor by Mozart played by Letitie Talbot. Then soprano Sandy Sugarman sang Nursery Rhymes and Come, Love, With Me. Judy Rivard then played Chopin's Nocturne in F Major, Op. 15, No. 1. Shirley McKee brilliantly played the "Allegro" and "Presto" movements of Sonta, Op. 36 No. 1 by Clementi. This was followed by Bach's Prelude and Fugue in D Minor and Sequidilla by Albenia played by Donna George. Betty Bradley, a soprano, concluded the recital with Japanese Love Song and Morning.

DELIGHTFUL ARTIST CHARMS GULF PARK

In the Auditorium on Friday, January 26, the students of Gulf Park College were treated to a concert not quite like any other. They not only heard fine music beautifully performed, but also met a delightfully unique individual. This individual was Mr. Stephen Kovacs who has been described throughout the country as having "great musical insight," "technical mastery," "brilliance," and "wizardry."

Mr. Kovacs allows his audiences to choose which of his many programs they want to hear, and his Gulf Park audience chose the program of light classical compositions. This included Chopins' Polonaise in A Flat Major, Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2, Mr. Kovac's own arrangement of Strauss' Fledermous Waltzs, Verdi's Rigoletto Fantasy, Paganini's La Campanella, Wagner's Tannhauser Overture, Debussy's Clair de Lune, Rimsky-Korsakoff's The Flight of the Bumblebee, Lecuona, Malaguena, and Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue. For his encore, Mr. Kovacs played one of Brahms' varations on a theme by Paganini.

Mr. Kovacs' charm lay not only in his artistry as a pianist, but also in the introductions which he gave each peice. Judging from the enthusiastic reception of Mr. Kovacs, Gulf Park will long remember this fascinating and talented man.

ALUMNAE

During Commencement Weekend this year, there will be reunions of the Classes of 1922, 1927, 1932, 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952 and 1957. Those who were juniors the previous year are cordially invited to join their classmates for this occasion. The dates are May 25 through May 28. The Alumnae Luncheon will be held on Monday, May 28.

Tea In St. Louis

The country estate of Dr. and Mrs. Drennan Bailey (JODY BELCHER), 46 Countryside Lane, Frontenac, in North West St. Louis, was the setting for a tea for Gulf Park Alumnae on Sunday afternoon, February 18, honoring Dr. and Mrs. H. Preston James and Dr. Rupert H. Cooke. Assisting Mrs. Bailey as hostesses were her mother, Mrs. James C. Belcher, Mrs. James A. Unger (LILY BELLE ANDERSON) and Mrs. Donald Bindbeutel (ALICE HOFFMAN). Alumnae present included Marguerite Turner Johnson, 1932-34; Bee Croak Heimbrodt, '37; Hazel Bohlinger Reid, '45; Nancy Weber Reed, '46; Gloria McLean Varnum, 1946-47; Mary Miller Ziervogel, Jean Donaldson Laux and Shirley Gerling Duncan, '47; Marcia Steiner Handy, '55; Kay Klute Harvey, '56; Mari-

Genoa, and Venice. They took a bus from Rome and were able to see the quiet, peaceful countryside stretching between the two cities. She traveled down the Appian Way and saw the Catacombs plus the ruins of the Coliseum in Rome.

Harriet spent two months in Ireland, England, Denmark, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, and France. She and her tour traveled by bus through the Irish Lake country that she describes as beautiful with rolling hills and little streams running along the mountain sides. Salzburg, Austria, is a small town with tiny crooked cobblestone streets; a Bavarian influence is particularly evident here. In Vienna she went to a monastery and saw an Austrian wedding in progress. She left the mainland to go to the Isle of Marken where the government pays the people to dress and live as they did years ago. It is a favorite tourist attraction. Harriet was able to cross into East Berlin just before the gates were closed. She noticed that very few cars or people were on the streets and that a policeman was on every corner. She walked around looking in the store windows to see the clothes which were made of inferior material and very expensive. There were bombed buildings, veritable ruins, being used for housing settlements for the German people. They are constant reminders of the war and only serve to augment the depression of the citizens. From Valendam, Austria, she saw the Danish Riviera and its picturesque fishing villages. She also raved about the fancy and terribly fattening food served everywhere.

What is the way to spend a perfect summer? Betsy, Elaine, May, Lois Ann, Jan and Harriet say to tour Europe. They all have many grand memories of Paris, London, Stockholm, Berlin, and interesting stories to relate about their experiences. These girls have seen many famous landmarks that seem only written history to us.
